

JOIN UNISON in NPS

UNISON is the largest trade union in the UK. We offer essential cover for staff working for the National Probation Service (NPS). We protect and represent you at work and campaign for a better future for probation.

We offer a wide range of member benefits and services including support when you need it at work, a helpline open until midnight, access to legal assistance and compensation for accidents and injuries at work.

We negotiate your pay and conditions, represent you in disciplinary and grievance hearings, and look after your health and safety at work. UNISON can take up issues on your behalf and we champion diversity and equality in the workplace. We also offer a range of training and development opportunities to help you improve your career prospects.

Working for the NPS has its challenges. Probation reform is on-going, and often controversial. Like most employers, the NPS sometimes gets things wrong. That's where UNISON comes in.

As an employee of the NPS you are likely to be working with high risk service users and could face allegations about your conduct or performance. Without UNISON, you could be facing this on your own.

Our network of branches, workplace stewards and health and safety representatives is there for UNISON members in the NPS. Our reps are NPS staff just like you, so they know how to help.

UNISON has a National Probation Service Committee which brings together representatives from across England and Wales, so we can co-ordinate our work across all NPS divisions.

Campaigning for probation

As the largest public service union we care passionately about the future of probation because we know what a difference you make to people's lives. We campaign for probation to be properly structured and resourced so you can get the job done.

We talk with employers, lobby politicians, and tell the media about our members' views on how probation should be improved.
